Dear Bob,

I wanted to pass along our appreciation for the great session on developing new business you conducted for our field staff. New business is a main artery for our needed growth as a company and a process we take very seriously. I believe your presentation and workshop will enable our team to be much better prepared to make the initial cold calls, overcome objections and follow the necessary steps to complete the sale. The customized Playbook created for this presentation and the information gathered throughout the workshop will be valuable tools for our staff going forward.

Sincerely,

Gary Nackers
